

PLANS NEW MARKET

Big Joe is moving north in 1968. He recently purchased the Guild property to the left of his present fruit market, a Warren County landmark since the 1800's. Included in the purchase is a corner lot north of the house. Two years ago, Big Joe acquired the Jamieson property to the south. After January 1, demolition of all the structures will get under way to provide a new fruit market and parking space to accommodate 300 cars. There will be about 400-foot frontage and 150-foot back. The new market will be located 50 feet from the highway. (Photo by Mansfield)

Morse and Kennedy to Remain Neutral in Oregon Primary

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, a sharp and persistent critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, said Friday night he will not take sides in an Oregon presidential primary test between President Johnson and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Morse made this disclosure a few hours after an associate of Sen. Robert K. Kennedy told reporters that the New York Democrat will hold to a neutral stance on the Minnesota senator's challenge to Johnson's war course.

"We're simply standing on what he has already said," a Kennedy spokesman said.

McCarthy plans to enter the Oregon race and at least three others on a platform of opposition to Johnson's conduct of the war.

Morse issued a statement which said:

"I do not intend to involve myself in the presidential primary candidacy of any of the candidates whose names will be on the Oregon primary ballot next May."

Morse would seem a natural McCarthy ally. But the Oregon Democrat, who is up for re-election in 1968, said once again he hopes Johnson will alter Vietnam policy in a fashion that will lead all Democrats to unite behind him.

Still another prominent Democrat, Rep. Henry S. Reuss of Wisconsin, voiced his neutrality in the prospective McCarthy-Johnson test in his state. But he added in a statement that he welcomes McCarthy's announcement and hinted that he might change his neutral stand at some future date.

In New York, Texas Gov. John B. Connally said McCarthy is a "stalking horse" for Kennedy's presidential aspirations.

Connally told newsmen he assumes the strategy involved would be to use the Minnesota candidate "to try to coalesce the dissidents and get some accurate appropriation of their numbers and their strength."

The Texan, a friend of President Johnson, said he believes that would help Kennedy decide whether to "come out in the open."

Kennedy has said repeatedly that he is not a candidate for the White House in 1968, that he supports Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for re-election, and that he is prepared to campaign for such a ticket.

But sources close to him have reported he views this pledge as applicable only to the general election struggle with the Republicans, and not to intraparty tests in the primaries, in which he plans to take no role.

McCarthy announced Thursday he will enter four, perhaps as many as six presidential primaries in 1968 on a platform of opposition to Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

Shafer to Sign Horse Racing Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer probably will sign a bill to legalize thoroughbred horse racing in Pennsylvania, a usually reliable source said Friday.

The source, which declined identification, indicated the governor's action would be in line with previous statements he has made to newsmen.

Shafer has said he personally is opposed to gambling, but that if the legislature approved a thoroughbred bill in proper form he would sign it.

Some church groups have appealed to Shafer to veto the legislation. The governor has vetoed only two bills since taking office in January.

The thoroughbred measure would authorize four licensed racing associations throughout the state to conduct meets not exceeding 100 days each.

Harness racing was legalized in Pennsylvania in 1959.

Monet Brings $1.4 Million

LONDON (AP) — Claude Monet's "The Terrace at St. Adresse" brought $1,411,200 at Christie's auction Friday, a record price for a French impressionist painting.

The Monet was sold by the Rev. Theodore Pitcairn, Pennsylvania philanthropist. He expressed pleasure at the price and said the money will go to several charities through his Beneficia Foundation at Bryn Athyn, Pa.

Geoffrey Agnew, head of the Agnew gallery, bought the picture. He said he thought "it would be nice to buy the Monet in the gallery's 150th year." The previous high paid for a French impressionist painting was $608,000 for Cezanne's "Maison a L'Estaque" by American multimillionaire Paul Mellon in 1965.

Jamestown Firm Gets $76,000 Grant

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Details were announced in Jamestown yesterday for a $76,000 grant to Micro Line Corp. from the Job Development Authority of the state of New York.

The grant will be applied toward the construction costs of the local firm's new facilities recently built near Jamestown Municipal Airport.

The Job Development Authority grant was obtained through Opportunities Jobs Inc., a local agency designed to stimulate industrial growth and expansion.

Micro Line formerly operated a plant on Osmer st. in Jamestown but earlier this year moved to the Ellicott industrial park for the construction of their $250,000 facility when they were unable to build in the city of Jamestown. At the present time Micro Line employs about 30 people but company officials indicate that the number is expected to be considerably higher in 1968.

Protests Federal Approach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Friday labor unions must open their doors wider to Negroes but fight federal efforts to treat organized labor like "a criminal" on racial problems.

"We should try to help" Negro youths and members of other minority groups who want to join unions and learn skilled trades, Meany said.

"But under no circumstances should we submit to a reduction of the standards for skilled workers," he told a convention of the AFL-CIO's construction and building trades department.

Meany said he talked recently with secretary of labor W. Willard Wirtz about federal regulations against discrimination in labor unions and "I told him the approach was as if you had a criminal standing at the bar. And I don't think any building trades union should allow itself to be put in that position."

The 18 construction unions representing some four million building trades workers voted resolutions of stiff protest to what they called "over zealous" federal attempts to impose a quota requirement for Negroes in unions.

But the construction unions pledged "affirmative action" to help Negroes and members of other minority groups find skilled jobs.

795 Teachers Strike; Close City's Schools

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Scranton's public schools were closed Friday as a majority of the system's 795 teachers struck for higher wages.

School officials had hoped to keep the schools open, but closed the doors and sent the pupils home after only a handful of teachers showed up.

"We just couldn't operate," said Dr. Richard McNichol, school superintendent.

There are 16,000 pupils in Scranton's three high schools, two junior highs and three dozen elementary schools.

Teachers represented by the Scranton Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, which claims more than 250 members, put up picket lines at schools and the school administration building. Teachers represented by the Scranton Branch of the Pennsylvania Education Association, which claims 480 members, held a seminar at a Scranton hotel rather than report for work.

Salaries now range between $5,000 and $8,000 yearly. The school board has offered a $500 a year increase this year and a similar one next year.

Eleanor Deviney, association president, said her organization is seeking a $1,300 annual raise immediately. Robert K. Cavanaugh, federation president, said his organization wants a $1,500 raise the first year.

Iran, derived from "Aryan," is the correct name of the country long referred to as Persia.

Community's Front Door

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce provides what might be termed the front door to our community. Through it is channeled everything from the query of an industrialist interested in knowing what possibilities the area might offer as a plant location to the vacationer whose only concern is whether or not the bass in the Allegheny River will hit a whatchamacallit plug.

This is true of any area anywhere. For it has long been an accepted premise that the Chamber of Commerce or the Board of Trade provides the primary point of contact for the stranger interested in a community for any reason at all. It is the portal at which his knock will be answered graciously.

So in a community such as ours where community growth is of so much importance, whether it be industrial growth or expansion brought about through the development of our recreational potential, a smoothly functioning Chamber of Commerce is all important. For it is not only necessary to "answer the door," but to provide within the community the leadership, activity and direction needed to make our "door" more attractive to an increasing number of persons.

Recently, so to speak, our door has acquired a new coat of paint. Replacing Col. Henry Kerlin as executive vice president of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce is Barry R. Epstein who comes to the position from Ypsilanti, Mich., where he served as assistant manager of the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce. He can best be described as youthful, forceful, energetic, and the possessor of a pleasing personality.

But, in all, the changeover amounts to more than just a new coat of paint. For this newcomer will have his work cut out for him. Never before have the possibilities for promoting growth in the Warren area been better, nor the need for constructive leadership more pronounced. He will find that the duties of his office challenge his utmost talents and capabilities.

There is evidence, though, that he is capable of meeting these challenges. His youthful drive, his wealth of practical ideas, and a full-fledged ambition to prove himself should overcome any difficulties that arise. And if he can and does meet these challenges, the Warren area will benefit.

So with the Chamber of Commerce providing the front door to service the community, and the new director providing the qualities that should brighten its appearance, it seems only fair that the residents of the area get into the act by oiling the hinges.

JOSEPH ALSOP Meaning of McNamara

WASHINGTON—Robert S. McNamara has been, beyond question, the greatest administrative official ever to serve the U.S. government. Yet even today, when he is preparing to terminate his long and grueling service to this country, the historic inwardness of his achievement is not understood, and its full historic impact cannot yet be calculated.

What McNamara did was simple enough in essence. He invented and imposed a new way of doing defense, if that is the right phase. And in the course of doing this, he also reformed the American armed services. It sounds easy. But, in fact, there has been no other really radical change in the accepted way of doing defense since the profession of defense minister was first invented in the West. It happened much earlier in China—by the brilliant hunchback, Harpalus, Alexander the Great's cousin. Weapons changes have been countless, but the old way of doing defense was always continued. The old way of doing defense was by experience, by hunch and by the feelings in senior generals' and admirals' elbows. It worked well enough when technological advances were still extremely slow, although even in the past it produced some very strange results, especially in armed services with the complacency inspired by habitual victory. In the British navy in the 19th century, for instance, ironclad ships and steam were both introduced over the bitter opposition of most of the senior admirals.

As technological advance accelerated, however, the consequences of the old way of doing defense became more and more dangerous and costly. Cavalry generals making idiotic decisions about airplanes, battle-ship admirals fighting outlays on aircraft carriers, big-bomber generals obstructing missile programs—all this we have seen in America in the lifetime of most of us.

For the old way of doing defense, McNamara substituted a wholly new way—defense decision-making by statistical and logical analysis (which is actually misrepresented by the catch phrase, "cost-effectiveness"). The main consequence was a sharp reduction in what may be called the unit cost of defense. In other words, the United States began to get far more military power for a much smaller investment of men and money.

Conversational Counseling And Compost

By Berne W. Wager, County Agent

Returning from Thanksgiving at Grandma White's last weekend we saw truckloads after truckloads of Christmas trees heading for Pittsburgh. And since the symptoms of a strange disease are already showing on peoples faces when you walk down the street—smiles, friendliness, nodding, etc., one must assume that Christmas is coming again.

We'll talk about Christmas trees today. It's rather difficult to discuss this since some folks know nothing about trees, and others know everything that I'm going to say. That's a real problem you know with most everything, there's no middle ground.

How many kinds of trees are available? Pines, spruce and fir are the common ones on the market. Pines are the most readily available in Warren County. There's scotch pine—the most popular variety with needles in clusters of two. Blue-green in color, usually twisted, and from 1 1/2 to 3 inches long. White pine is a beautiful soft needled tree, dark blue-green in color and has five needles to the cluster. Some people think a white pine has branches too weak to decorate heavily, and this is true, but a native white pine is a champion tree in my book. Red pine has slender needles, dark green, 5 to 6 inches long and two to a cluster. Austrian pine is quite similar in color and length of needles. Both trees are difficult to decorate if heavily pruned. The decorations tend to lay on the branches rather than hang down.

Spruce trees are stiff limbed, and have stiff needles. In short, they prickle when you get near them. If you like spruce trees there are several varieties usually available—blue, white, black hills, and Norway. It's possible to have a blue or green color in the spruces, but the green colors will drop their needles rather quickly indoors.

Finally the firs—the good smelling trees with the short stiff needles that don't prickle. Douglas fir has pliable needles 3 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches long that are attached all around the twig, instead of in the flat featherlike arrangement of balsam fir. Balsam fir has a beautiful dark green needle and the smell is "just plain Christmas." It's probably the most fragrant of all.

Of course there are some other kinds of trees, but the ones we've mentioned here are the most readily available in our county.

Parents have been taking children out to select Christmas trees since 1521. I'm certain that you could pick a tree without this column, but I do hope you bring home a better tree this year than ever before. Maybe you'll be able to tell Aunt Mabel the kind of tree you decorated in 1967.

BUCKLEY Exit Mister McNamara

One can only hope that the dismissal of Mr. McNamara will cause as much apprehension in Hanoi, Peking, and Moscow as apparently it is causing in Washington, Paris, and London. Over here, the reaction is mostly suspicious, frightened. The fear is that Mr. McNamara's replacement is the result of unsettling differences of opinion within the military, and that the bad guys have now won. The bad guys, in the judgment of Washington.

London-Paris, are those who desire to intensify the war in Vietnam so as to attempt to bring it to a satisfactory conclusion. Mr. McNamara has succeeded in the past in projecting himself as the great restrainer of the Vietnam War, the moralist who is tortured by doubt about the bombing of North Vietnam; the intellectual who is primarily interested in the elimination of poverty. He made that point in Montreal a year-and-a-half ago, invoking the names of Aristotle, Marcus Aurelius, St. Augustine, Francis Bacon, John Locke, Thomas Jefferson, and John F. Kennedy. The intellectuals swooned. In their hearts, they have known that McNamara was an okay Defense Secretary, hemmed in by his boss Lyndon Johnson, the crude, power-wielding fanatic, and Dean Rusk, the chubby little parochializer from Georgia, who believes in silly little things like the domino theory, the relevance of Munich, the policy of containment, and other such superstitions.

It is well known that in history people often end up occupying the role that is generally expected of them. There isn't anything at all in McNamara's background that tilts him in a different direction from Dean Rusk on such matters as Vietnam. On the contrary, as a technologist, it is McNamara, sooner than Rusk, who would expect would rely primarily on his machines to exert his will on refractory foreigners.

The strength of McNamara's mind, moreover, is highly limited. He is the type who would score up in the stratospheric reaches in any test of intellectual dexterity. But — see his Montreal speech — as a philosopher he is jejune, banal. The kind of person who is satisfied to say that poverty is the cause of the war. Mr. McNamara is a man the liberals have been aching to lionize, because they feel the sweet vibrations of great technical competence combined with liberal platitudes. Now that Mr. McNamara is disengaged, one can expect a transition as smooth and as skillful as Professor Arthur Schlesinger Jr.'s, from pro-Vietnam to anti-Vietnam. I can see it now.

So much for the future of Mr. McNamara. What about the future of the United States? A few observations: 1) The relief of Mr. McNamara was overdue. Whatever it was that he was in a position to contribute, by intellectual force majeure, to the consolidation of the three branches of the service, he has long since contributed. If the armed services are going to atomize anew under different leadership — if Mr. McNamara's consolidation is going to come quickly unstuck under his successor — then perhaps one ought to give fresh attention to the question of the unification of the services. Perhaps there are good, organic grounds for their separateness.

2) Mr. McNamara's refusal to give the military in Vietnam operative control of the war has cost this country a great deal. The criticism by the military on this point alone is all but unanimous. The military does not ask to be given sovereignty over the value judgments involved; let the President and the Congress decide when and where wars must be fought. But the fighting of them is something which one is better trained to do at West Point and the General Staff School, than at M.I.T. and the Ford Motor Company.

And 3), let the President, at this juncture, supply the American people with a freshly-enunciated strategic reckoning, in which Vietnam is situated within a coherent world view. Enough of what we are doing for the Vietnamese. More of what we are doing for ourselves. Stress the falcitous congruity between our own goals and those of South Vietnamese who desire to be free. But acknowledge always, the pre-eminence of the first, over the second, consideration.

We need, as a replacement for Mr. McNamara, a less pretentious secretary of defense, who will engage himself completely in winning this war.

"Gene McCarthy is the kind of a man — as we say in the ranch country in Texas — who will go to the well with you . . . !"

JACK ANDERSON Johnson Knows McCarthy

WASHINGTON—Sen. Eugene McCarthy's official announcement that he will run for President as a Democrat in opposition to the Democrat now in the White House did not take the latter by surprise.

President Johnson has known Gene McCarthy well. They served together in the Senate, and at one time there were some talks which led McCarthy to believe he would be the Vice Presidential running mate on the 1964 Johnson ticket.

McCarthy, thinking the lightning would strike, even rented a headquarters for himself in Atlantic City. And today, according to friends, he is bitter at the man who, he thinks, took him up on the mountain to the Vice Presidency, then pushed him off into the Atlantic City breakers.

Impartial observers who watched that pre-Atlantic City maneuvering believed McCarthy had no reason to expect the lightning to strike. They knew that Hubert Humphrey, the senior Minnesota Senator, had been tabbed for the second place.

Despite this, it remains a fact that Gene McCarthy today is bitter. This is one factor behind his race.

The frame of mind of a President who is challenged for re-election by a member of his own party is as interesting today as it was 20 years ago when Harry S. Truman found himself in the same position. In 1948 Harold Ickes was maneuvering to unseat Truman, Jimmy Roosevelt joined in the search for a suitable candidate. So did the late Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York. Their chief goal was to persuade Dwight D. Eisenhower, then president of Columbia University, that he should run against Truman as a Democrat. Harry Truman, watching their efforts, was not pleased.

Today Lyndon Johnson, watching their efforts, is not pleased. He is also skeptical regarding McCarthy's real backers. The McCarthy campaign, he suspects, is actually a front-runner maneuver by Bobby Kennedy to soften up Johnson for a later political kill.

Recalling Theodore White's book, "The Making of the President," President Johnson speculated that Kennedy and McCarthy would like the next book to be called "The Unmaking of the President."

All sorts of political rumors have been brought to the White House regarding the suspected Kennedy-McCarthy axis, and here are some of them which have kept the political pot boiling:

1. White House aide John Roche, the intellectual-in-residence, has reported to the President that Kennedy and McCarthy were seen with their heads together on Capitol Hill. Their huddle lasted a good deal longer than it takes to say hello.

2. Sen. McCarthy, a former college professor of modest means, appears singularly unconcerned about the estimated $2 million that the Presidential race will cost him. The President can't help wondering whether McCarthy is relying more upon Kennedy's than his own credit rating.

3. Kennedy and McCarthy, both Irish Catholics, are tied by a religious bond. This, of course, didn't prevent McCarthy in 1960 from opposing the late John F. Kennedy's nomination—a political error that was later forgiven.

Other insiders insist McCarthy has national ambitions of his own and saw the opportunity to take political advantage of Johnson's unpopularity.

McCarthy has also complained privately that the President has shown no interest in his views and has consulted him less than half a dozen times since moving into the White House.

This complaint got back to LBJ, who told friends plaintively that he had invited McCarthy to the White House "frequently" and had listened to his views on Vietnam as long as 90 minutes to two hours.

As a young Congressman in the 1950s, the gracefully handsome McCarthy was a crusading liberal. But after his election to the Senate in 1958, he seemed to lose his zeal. He changed into a sophisticated cynic, wise and witty.

Intimates say he was taken into camp by the late Robert S. Kerr, oil millionaire, uranium king, cattle baron and Senator from Oklahoma, who worked his will in the Senate with the finesse of one of his prize bulls. Kerr taught McCarthy, as a member of the Senate Finance Committee, that it was sometimes more practical to go along with the special interests than to crusade against them.

Compromising his convictions was harder for Gene McCarthy than it is for most politicians. But he found campaign contributions easier to raise, he began to take vacations at Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe. The Senator told this column that he has been to Nevada only twice in recent years, once in 1960 as the guest of Sen. Alan Bible, the second time in 1964 to campaign for Sen. Howard Cannon. On the latter trip, he acknowledged, one of the hotels had taken him on a boat cruise on nearby Lake Mead. Life for a liberal conservative became much pleasanter than the life of an all-out liberal.

ART BUCHWALD

Karate and the Jap Driver

TOKYO—There seems to be general agreement among all world travelers that there is nothing on earth to compare with the Tokyo traffic or the Japanese driver.

The traditional samurai-kamikaze spirit which has been passed on from father to son now manifests itself on the streets of the world's largest city. The most noble act that a licensed Japanese driver can perform is to crash his car into flames at an intersection, taking as many other cars with him as he possibly can.

The Japanese practice a form of vehicular karate which is not only a sport but a form of self-defense. It is known as "the way" and it is believed the true meaning of life can be found only after a person has experienced a traffic pile up in the rain on the Ginza at 6 o'clock in the evening.

A qualified karate driver must show courage, determination and spirit. His mind must be cleared of all thoughts and he must be prepared at all times, not only to defend his own car, but to attack another car when the opportunity presents itself.

He also must master "the absence of preconceived thoughts." Each traffic situation must be treated as a brand new one requiring a self-confidence that can only come from long hours of meditation during the endless Tokyo traffic jams.

In order to qualify for a black safety belt, the driver must learn to thrust, strike, block, heel and twist his car, striking out at his opponent without worrying about the danger to his own safety or the consequences to those within a two-block radius of the traffic light.

A good karate driver must remain relaxed, the ball of his right foot firmly on the accelerator, the left foot near the brake. When he sees an opening he makes a thrust toward it, screaming "kiai!" This not only frightens the opponent in the other car, but also gives the driver the needed courage to go on.

At the moment the driver makes his thrust, his opponent might try to cut him off with a "uke-waza," or blocking technique. By braking fast, the driver uses the weight of his opponent's car against him, and with luck the other fellow will crash into a department-store window.

If the opponent manages to keep his car on the street, the karate driver must throw a "kake-uke" (inside hooking block) which can, with luck, make the opponent swerve into another oncoming car.

In order to keep their bumpers firm, most karate drivers practice on Tokyo pedestrians. A Japanese car in good condition can split three pedestrians in half with one blow. During my stay I was introduced to a 10-black belt taxi driver who claimed he could split six pedestrians without hurting his cab.

The importance of karate-driving to the Japanese cannot be underestimated. Not only does it build the spirit and soothe the mind, but it is great for muscle toning, low blood pressure and hardening the body.

It is Japan's greatest weapon against the population explosion, and many Japanese I spoke to say they prefer it to the pill.

R. HARATINE Greatness And Near Greatness

It was a wild, celebrity-filled week. By the time General Eisenhower sent word to Capitol Hill that he would have a press statement at the Harrisburg railroad station, the atmosphere was clogged with greatness and near greatness. More than one newsman, counting on the omnipresent UPI and AP, passed up Mamie and Ike on the premise that he could read about it in the morning papers.

The general had been pre-empted by lesser historical figures and events.

For instance, the Democrats were installing two new State Senators, and the Republicans one.

One is the GOP needed in the Senate to make its numbers 27—a solid majority plus one.

There was Cong. Richard S. Schweiker and his eight-month-old daughter. They were here to announce their candidacy for the U.S. Senate seat from Pennsylvania. "I am in it until November 5, 1968," said Republican Schweiker. Later the baby gurgled on its daddy and the cameras flashed.

Wednesday, the Capitol overflowed with delegates to the Governors' Safety Conference, most of them here to pick up a Governor's Plaque and to grouch over having their picture taken with the Revenue Secretary instead of the Governor. For them, it was a small consolation that Secretary Warner Deputy might become the Republicans' choice to run for State Treasurer or Auditor General next year.

By Friday the lobbies and the corridors—and the great hall of the House of Representatives—were filled with luminaries bearing names such as James A. Michener, the author, William W. Scranton, the former governor, and A. Hugh Forster, the Constitutional Convention delegate from the Armstrong Cork Company and Lancaster County who is chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Committee.

Bill Scranton had been here in spirit earlier in the week. For handling the public relations chores for Schweiker's candidacy was William Keisling, a Scranton Original. When General Eisenhower spoke well of Schweiker before boarding an Arizona-bound train, it must have revived memories for Keisling. Typically guarded, Ike's language was strangely reminiscent of the language Keisling must have heard on a frantic Sunday morning during the Presidential campaign summer of 1964, when Scranton fought desperately to head off Barry Goldwater's candidacy. Said Ike: "I, as a citizen of this state, believe he (Schweiker) would make a splendid senator."

Meanwhile, U.S. Senator Joseph S. Clark sent along the word that his candidacy to succeed to a third term had the approval of a score of Pennsylvania's Democratic mayors. Justice Michael A. Musmanno, firing from the cane breaks—both sounding more and more like he'd rather move up to Chief Justice of the Supreme Court than battle Clark in the Democratic primaries—issued a clarification of his earlier definitions of Clark. "He's an ostrich hiding his head in the sands of duplicity," said Musmanno, "not a dove."

Meanwhile, Internal Affairs Secretary John K. Tabor, anticipating Schweiker's candidacy by 40 minutes, issued a repealer even before the congressman got his campaign off the ground. "Mr. Schweiker's announcement in no way settles or locks up the nomination," said Tabor. "There is considerable pressure on me at the moment to become a candidate. I will complete my soundings and make my decision promptly."

YES, GENERAL CUSTER SENT FOR A SQUAD... BUT YOU'RE NOT WHAT WE HAD IN MIND.

Knight Matmen Whip Bears, Jim Martin Hurt

UNION CITY — Eisenhower High School opened its wrestling season with a 39-15 victory over the Union City Bears here last night, but the triumph proved costly to Knight Coach Don Johns.

Jim Martin, the Knights' returning letterman at 154 pounds, suffered a hairline fracture of the clavicle in the first period of his match with Union City's Dan Hawley and may be lost for the remainder of the season.

Outside of that one sour note, it was a good evening for the Knight grapplers, who avenged last season's 38-17 loss to the Bears.

Eisenhower won eight of the 12 matches, including five by pins and one on a forfeit. Owen Williams (103-pounds) and Gary Gage (112) recorded first period falls and Paul Cathcart (127), Harry Critzer (165) and heavyweight Jim Sherry pinned their Bear opponents in the second period.

Winning decisions for the Knights were Gary Dalrymple (133) and Dave Burnett (145). Tim Martin (180) won forfeit points when Union City failed to put a boy on the mats at that weight.

The falls by Williams and Gage got Eisenhower off to an early lead after Ralph Spicer had lost a 6-4 decision at 95-pounds.

Pete Block was decided at 120, then Cathcart's pin and the decision by Dalrymple gave Eisenhower a solid 20-6 advantage. Andy Bosko dropped a decision at 138, but Burnett got the points back at 145 before Union City scored its last team points when Jim Martin was injured. Pins by Critzer and Sherry, coupled with Tim Martin's forfeit, sewed it up for the Knight grapplers.

Eisenhower opens defense of its Southern Tier Conference title Tuesday night by hosting Salamanca, N.Y. Next Friday the Knights travel to Southwest for a key league match. Individual results of last night's match were as follows:

95—Gary Fuller (UC) dec. Ralph Spicer (E), 6-4.
103—Owen Williams (UC) pinned Ed Burns (UC), 1:06 first period.

112—Gary Gage (E) pinned Steve Tomcho (UC), :48 first period.

120 — Larry Rodgers (UC) dec. Pete Block (E), 7-0.

127—Paul Cathcart (E) pinned Bob Burek (UC), 1:24 second period.

133—Gary Dalrymple (E) dec. Andy Bosko (E), 5-1.

145—Dave Burnett (E) dec. Robert Clark (UC), 2-0.

154—Dan Hawley (UC) won by default over Jim Martin (E), first period.

165—Harry Critzer (E) pinned Jim Morton (UC), 1:06 second period.

180—Tim Martin (E) won by forfeit.

Referee — Jim Sherry (E) pinned Gary McClellan (UC), 1:33 second period.

Referee — Corky Latimer, Warren; scorekeeper — Debbie Lindell.

Celtics, 76ers Take Wins, Wilt Hits 52

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics employed a balanced attack, led by Player-Coach Bill Russell, and retained their one-game Eastern Division lead over Philadelphia by nipping the Los Angeles Lakers 123-119 Friday night.

Russell scored 25 points after his long-time rival, Wilt Chamberlain, hit a season high of 52 in pacing the Philadelphia 76ers to a 133-109 rout of Seattle in the opener of the National Basketball Association season.

With both teams hitting, the Celtics led 37-36 after one period, 71-69 at the half and 101-99 at the three quarter mark. The Celtics scored three straight baskets at the outset of the finale and clung to the lead the rest of the way.

The Lakers battled back to within two points, but a free throw by Russell and a pair by Sam Jones in the final minute protected Boston's 16th triumph in 21 starts.

Trade Rules Tightened By Baseball

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Baseball deals by which a player is traded for "a player to be named later" were outlawed during the playing session at Friday's joint meeting of the major leagues.

Commissioner William D. Eckert lined up with the National League to put through the rule change. The American League has asked the proposal be tabled.

This action was aimed at deals such as those made last year by which the New York Mets sent Ken Boyer to the Chicago White Sox for an unnamed player and the White Sox similar deal with Cleveland for Rocky Colavito.

The majors also voted to cut the player limit to 25 men from opening day until Midnight Aug. 31. Previously clubs had been allowed to carry 28 men in the first month of the season.

A new rule would require irrevocable interleague waivers at 20,000 dollars before a player can be released. If no club claimed the player he then could make his own deal as Ken Harrelson did with Boston last year after Charley Finley cut him loose from Kansas City. In the future the player must pass through the irrevocable waivers before he can be released.

The practice of releasing a player in the season and then signing the player just before opening day, thus clearing room on the roster for younger players to be protected, was ruled out. In the future, effective Aug. 31, 1968, a player released after Aug. 31 cannot be signed by the same club before May 15 of the following year.

Wes Unseld Buckets 44

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — All-America Wesley Unseld, instructed by new Louisville basketball coach John Drozmo to shoot more this season, did just that Friday night, pouring in a school record 45 points as Louisville defeated Georgetown, Ky., 118-86.

Besides breaking the old single game high of 44 points, Unseld also shared 28 rebounds, one short of another school record that he set last year.

A combination of Louisville's fast break and Georgetown's sloppy ball handling against a full court press enabled Louisville to build up a 50-39 halftime lead.

Butch Beard had 16 points and sparked Louisville's drive late in the first half.

Willie Day topped Georgetown's scoring with 23 points and John Davis had 17.

Other scorers in double figures for Boston were Jones with 21 points, Larry Siegfried 18, Bailey Howell and Tom Sanders 17 each and Don Nelson 12.

Elgin Baylor hit for 29 points and Jerry West 27 in pacing the Lakers.

In the opener, Chamberlain broke out of a season-long scoring drought with his big production.

Chamberlain, playing the entire 48 minutes, hit on 22 of 29 field goal attempts and grabbed 37 rebounds, but only converted eight of 30 free throw attempts.

Chamberlain scored 22 points, although hitting only two of 13 free throws, in helping the 76ers to a 59-53 halftime lead.

Rookie Bob Rule led Seattle with 29 points.

Chamberlain missed 22 foul shots, for an NBA record. The old record was set by Chamberlain against Syracuse in 1960.

BLACK KNIGHTS SOLID FAVORITES IN CLASSIC

Army-Navy Tilt Headlines Light College Football Schedule Today

Navy, hoping for a return to early-season form, will try to beat Army for the first time in four years Saturday in the 68th football battle between the two service academies.

Army is a solid touchdown favorite in the traditional clash that is expected to draw up wards of 102,000 fans to Philadelphia's John F. Kennedy Stadium. The Cadets posted a 9-1 mark this season, losing only to Duke in a disputed contest.

The Middies, on the other hand, started the season with high hopes, beating Penn State Michigan and Syracuse, before a loss to William and Mary seemed to take the fight out of the team. Navy's record to date is 4-4-1.

Tennessee, No. 2 in the country with an 8-1 record, can clinch the Southern Conference title with a victory against Vanderbilt over which the Volunteers are three-touchdown favorites. Alabama, No. 8 with a 7-1-1 mark, meets Auburn in its last regular-season game.

In other contests Saturday, Holy Cross plays Boston College, Mississippi meets Mississippi State, Rice tackles Baylor and Texas Christian is at Southern Methodist.

But the Army-Navy game will draw most of the national attention, helped by a national telecast over ABC starting at 1:15 p.m. EST.

Princeton Nips Army

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Joe Heiser salvaged Pete Carroll's debut as Princeton basketball coach Friday night with 10 key points in the final five minutes, climaxing an uphill struggle and carrying the Tigers to a 62-59 victory over stubborn Army in the opener for both teams.

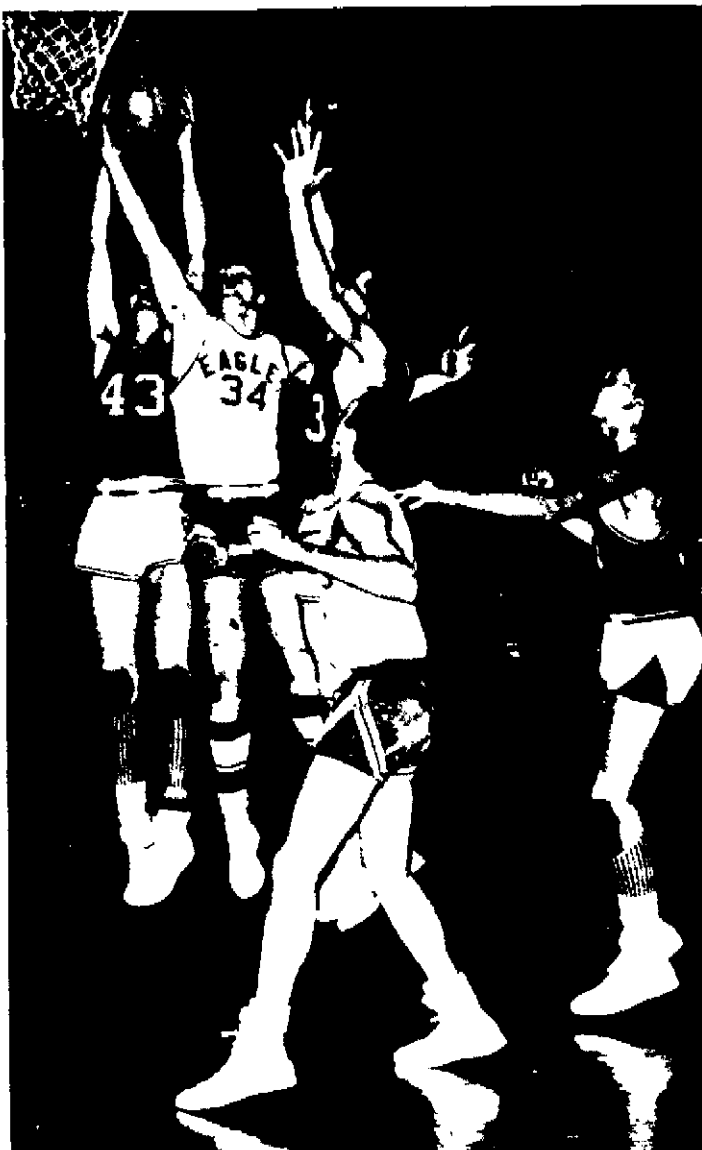

The eighth-ranked Tigers had trailed for 28 minutes, once by as many as nine points and by 36-31 at the half. Heiser put the Tigers ahead to stay at 54-52 on a drive with 4:44 remaining.

Mike Noon led Army with 21 points. Heiser took game honors with 22 points.

Six Rutgers players were in double figures but scoring honors went to Pitt's Mike Patchner with 22 points.

Both teams were edgy in the early going but with the score tied 18-18 Rutgers gained composure and opened a 45-31 lead before the first half ended.

Eagle Cagers Win; Tidioute Routed

EAGLE ACTION

Youngsville's George Nelson (34) is boxed in by two Cochran cagers in a fight for a rebound in last night's game on the Eagles' court. Nelson, who contributed 10 points to the Red and White's 56-49 victory, is expected to shoulder most of the rebounding since the loss of Marty Yucha. Tom Burleigh was high for the Eagles with 20 points and Denny Walton chipped in 18. (Photo by Mahan)

Youngsville Posts 56-49 Behind Burleigh, Walton

Youngsville High School chalked up its second victory of the 1967-68 basketball campaign against one loss last night by defeating Cochran, 56-49. Tidioute dropped its second game in a row, losing to Jamestown, Pa., by an 85-58 score in another county game.

Eisenhower High School, the only other county team in action, dropped a 54-47 ballgame to Fredonia, N.Y. In the opener for both schools, Cal Astrey of Fredonia was the game's high scorer. Tim Allen hit 14 for the Knights and Bob Burlingame added 13.

Area cage action saw Smethport slipping past Ridgway, 51-47.

At Youngsville, the Eagles outscored visiting Cochran 16-2 in the second period to lead at halftime by a 31-14 score and coasted to the victory.

stanzas, but were never able to overcome the intermission deficit.

Coach Paul Siegel got a strong performance from Tom Burleigh, who poured 20 points through the hoop for game-high honors. Burleigh hit on six shots from the floor and added eight free throws.

In all the Eagles made 23 of 33 attempts from the foul line, to 11 of 20 for Cochran, the margin of victory since the Cardinals outscored Youngsville 19 to 18 from the floor.

Two other Eagles were in double figures. Denny Walton was right behind Burleigh with 18 points and George Nelson added 10. Mike Brenoel was high for Cochran with 16 points and Bob Rynd hit 10.

The Youngsville junior varsity made it a sweep by edging the Little Cardinals, 55-52 in the preliminary.

The contest at Tidioute found the Bulldogs on the short end of a 26-16 score after one period and Jamestown opened the lead to 20 points, 46-26 at halftime and won going away.

Tidioute outpointed the Muskies 16-14 in the third stanza, but never got any closer as the visitors closed with a strong 25-point final quarter to 18 for the Bulldogs.

Dennis Williams of the Muskies led all scorers with 24 points, all but two coming from the floor and three of his teammates also found the range to hit in double figures.

For Tidioute, Ed Ziegler pumped in 17 points on six field goals and five fouls, Ed Vincent topped 15. Scott McKay contributed 12 and Mark Rondinelli added 10. Tidioute was 18 for 26 from the foul line and Jamestown dropped 21 of 39 free shots through the hoop.

In the preliminary, the Little Bulldogs fell 51-26. At Ridgway, Smethport overcame an early lead by the Elkers for a four-point halftime lead, then outscored their hosts by a slim three points in the final period to take the victory.

The Elkers had closed the gap to one-point, 36-35, after three periods, but were outscored in the last eight minutes, 15-12.

Dan Pierce of the Elkers edged out Smethport's John Olson for scoring honors with 18 points to 17 for the Huber cager, Jim Kane of Smethport was the only other player in double figures with 13.

Baseball Making Expansion Plans

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The National League voted unanimously Friday to expand to 12 teams no later than 1971 and the American League awarded a conditional expansion franchise for 1969 to a Seattle group.

The group includes Bill Daley, former chairman of the board of the Cleveland Indians and Dewey Soriano, president of the Pacific Coast League.

The American League also listened to representatives of four different groups seeking the new Kansas City franchise, which will be activated with Seattle in 1969. After further screening, Dec. 14 in Kansas City, the owner of the new franchise will be selected Jan. 11 at Chicago.

Announcement of the National League's decision to add two clubs no later than 1971 was somewhat surprising because Warren Giles, league president, had indicated he did not expect any definite timetable to be set up at this meeting.

There has been tremendous pressure on the National League to follow the move of the American League, which has been characterized as "hasty" and also expand to 12 teams by 1969. However, there was no indication whether the National would add the two clubs for 1969, 1970 or 1971.

If one major league operated with 12 clubs and the other with 10 there would be many awkward complications, especially if the American League splits into two divisions as expected with a championship playoff after the regular season.

The starting date of the World Series' possible domination of publicity and television coverage by one league in the final week of the season, inequality in the free agent player draft and probably difference in the number of games in the schedule all would provide headaches.

The National League, which has tried to take the cautious approach to expansion, said the two new cities will be those "with ownership meeting the terms and conditions now being prepared."

Judge Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Houston Astros, and Charles "Chub" Feeney, vice president of the San Francisco Giants, are the members of the league's expansion committee which will have a most important duty in setting up the conditions.

Dave Grote, director of public relations for the National League, said all further announcements regarding the terms and conditions will be released from the league office in Cincinnati.

Six cities have applied for franchises and one informal bid has been received. The applications have come from San Diego, Dallas-Fort Worth, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Toronto and Montreal plus Denver informally.

The conditions under which the Seattle franchise will become active include passage of a $40 million bond issue, Feb. 13, interim stadium facilities acceptable to the league and start of construction of a new permanent stadium no later than Dec. 31, 1970.

Lotz Moves Ahead in Cajun Play

LA FAYETTE, La. (AP) — John Lotz, a victory-starved touring pro from California, fired his second straight five-under par 67 Friday for a 36-hole score of 134 and a one-stroke lead in the $35,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament.

At 135 was Marty Fleckman and Laurie Hammer. The third-round leader of the U.S. Open last summer as an amateur, Fleckman shot a 68 in the second round. This is his first official PGA tourney since joining the play-for-pay ranks.

Hammer also had a 68. The bespectacled Lotz, 26, has been on the tour since mid-1964 while the 24-year-old Hammer, a former University of Florida golfer, joined the circuit at the 1965 Cajun Classic.

Between them, Lotz and Hammer have less than $8,000 official earnings this year.

Lotz has missed only two greens in two days and his card Friday over the 6,550-yard Oakbourne Country Club course, which plays to a par of 36-36-72, showed six birdies and one bogie—the same as his first round.

His longest birdie putt Friday was a 12-footer at No. 14. Lotz's bogey came on the 198-yard, par-3 ninth hole where his tee shot splashed into a small lake fronting the green. Ironically, Hammer also bogied No. 9, which was his finishing hole, by landing in the water.

The day's best round was turned in by Bert Yancey. His sizzling 64 gave him a 137. First-round leader Jack Montgomery slipped to a 72 and was two strokes off the pace along with four other pros, Doug Sanders, who had a first round 75, withdrew before starting the second round.

"Bonavena's too strong for Ellis," is Spencer's prediction. "I think Ellis can beat Bonavena with his left jab," said Quarry. "Bonavena is easy to hit and awkward. Ellis could win by a knockout in six." Each thinks he can beat either Ellis or Bonavena for the WBA title in the series finale.

Ellis' Speed Vs. Oscar's Power Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — No one disputes the power of Oscar Bonavena's punches but will he find Jimmy Ellis an elusive target Saturday afternoon? The experts say yes.

They've made Ellis an 8-5 favorite in the semifinal fight of the heavyweight championship elimination tournament, citing Ellis' great speed.

The cocky Bonavena isn't disturbed by the odds or his opponent, who will be fighting before a home town audience. "Ellis is only a poor imitation of Cassius Clay," he said. "I'll get him in the second round."

"I must win this fight," said Bonavena, champion of Argentina. "If I lose, I don't get to the finals and if I don't get to the finals, I lose $125,000." That's the automatic guarantee for the championship match which will be staged later by the World Boxing Association to determine a successor to Clay, who was dethroned because he refused to accept Army induction.

Ellis is making no predictions but is quietly confident of his ability.

"I just want to win this one and one more and be a great champion," he said. And a great champion to him is "someone who will want to be like."

Ellis, the son of a Baptist minister, also stressed this point: He has no plans to become a Black Muslim. He was around them many times while working in Clay's training camps.

"The Muslims talked and I listened but I never went to a meeting," he said. "I told them I had my faith and that was it. I'm a Baptist and I wouldn't let anybody change me."

Both fighters will be near the weight they carried in their last bouts, Ellis at 194½ and Bonavena at 206½ pounds.

The scheduled 12 round bout will be carried live via ABC Wide World of Sports about 5:30 p.m.

Tourney Boxers Predict Winner

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jerry Quarry and Thad Spencer disagree on who will win the Oscar Bonavena-Jim Ellis heavyweight elimination fight in Louisville Saturday.

Quarry and Spencer meet in the other semifinal of the World Boxing Association series in Oakland, Calif., Feb. 3.

"Bonavena's too strong for Ellis," is Spencer's prediction. "I think Ellis can beat Bonavena with his left jab," said Quarry. "Bonavena is easy to hit and awkward. Ellis could win by a knockout in six."

Each thinks he can beat either Ellis or Bonavena for the WBA title in the series finale.

Schweiker Claims Strong GOP Committee Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard S. Schweiker claimed Friday he has the support of more than half the Republican county chairmen in Pennsylvania for his bid to unseat Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., the incumbent Democrat.

A tour of the state since announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination Monday has convinced him adequate financial support will be available even for a primary race, Schweiker said at a news conference.

Asked about backing from the state Republican leaders like Gov. Raymond Shafer, former Gov. William Scranton and Sen. Hugh Scott, Schweiker said:

"I would expect in the near future we will receive significant support at top levels of the party."

"I wouldn't have announced if I hadn't had the assurances of support from top echelons of the party."

Former President Dwight Eisenhower and Gen. Milton Baker, president of the Valley Forge Military Academy, so far have endorsed his candidacy, Schweiker said.

Schweiker challenged Clark to state clearly his position on the candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination of Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

"I believe Mr. Clark lacks the courage of his convictions on Vietnam," Schweiker said. "He speaks like Mr. McCarthy but lacks McCarthy's President Johnson."

Clark has said he will support Johnson for Re-election. In answer to other questions, Schweiker said:

— He feels former President Eisenhower would "do anything within reason I would ask" in campaign support.

— Robert McNamara "has been probably one of the strongest secretaries of defense in running the military establishment."

— The main fault of the Johnson Administration on Vietnam has been a lack of candor with the American People.

MOTOR CLUB HONORED

Willis Lundahl, right, president of the Warren County AAA Motor Club, with Don Schuler, director, Friday received an award for outstanding contribution to traffic safety. Warren County Gets State Safety Award

Warren borough police chief Michael Evan and Mayor D.E. Conaway on Wednesday attended the Governor's Conference on Traffic Safety and Warren County was presented an award for outstanding contributions to traffic safety.

Chief Evan said that much of the conference time was devoted to discussion of proposed legislation under the present administration. One measure would reduce to 1.0 per cent. It is also anticipated, Evan stated, putting in special legislation to provide for special examinations for operators of motorcycles or motor scooters and to require all operators of motor vehicles to be re-examined every four years.

E. R. Ricker, Director, Bureau of Traffic spoke on Pennsylvania's Role in Meeting the Federal Highway Safety Program. There were also comments on federal funds available for improvement to traffic conditions in municipalities.

It was noted that of all the federal money available for highway construction, 40 per cent must be spent on the local level with local matching funds.

The conference was addressed by Governor Raymond P. Shafer, Col. Frank McKetta, Commissioner, Pennsylvania State Police discussed the short and long range policies of that organization.

Other topics included an evaluation of traffic safety legislation and how Pennsylvania plans to meet its traffic needs.

Tidioute Scout Meet

Tidioute Boy Scout troop 27, sponsored by Tidioute Lions Club, will hold a special father-and-son meeting Sunday afternoon, December 3, at 3:30 in Tidioute fire hall.

All boys in the Tidioute area, 11 years or older, and their fathers, are invited to attend this special organizational meeting.

John Kloos, district Scout executive of Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, will present a program about Scouting and organizing Scout troops.

Police Activities

Borough police recorded 24 accidents during November with property damage totaling $8,522. There was one person killed and nine injured. Two accidents involved pedestrians and there were 12 hit and run incidents. Involved in the accidents were 23 local operators; 24 out-of-town; 33 male and 14 female. In November a year ago, there were 37 accidents, one fatality, 18 injured and property damage was listed as $15,330.

Somewhere in Warren County tragedy strikes and a mother confined to a wheelchair can no longer perform her normal household duties. . . a convalescent, aged or disabled person confined to bed must have constant supervision. When a situation like this arises the services of a Home Health Aide may be needed. As a result of a recent training program sponsored by the Warren-Forest Counties Office of Economic Opportunity, under the supervision of a professional registered nurse, the services of a home health aide are now available to residents of Warren County. Eleven graduates of the training program will offer their services to the county starting Dec. 4. See pages 4 and 5.

SOCIAL

Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

THE CHRISTMAS-NEW YEAR party time is nearing and a friend and colleague came across an item which she thought pertinent to situations which have a tendency to develop midst the happy holiday haze. Frankly it tells hosts how to get rid of guests who linger and linger and linger—the most obvious answer of course to that dilemma is simply not to be such a good host. However, for those who enjoy playing the host, but only up to a certain time and limit, here are the suggested procedures: The host and hostess retire to their chambers, re-emerge in their Doctor Dements and sing "Good Night, Ladies" and tippy-toe off to bed; activate an air raid alarm hidden in the house and usher guests through a door marked "shelter," which opens onto the street; put on a recording of Edith Sitwell reading her own poetry; bring out a movie projector and announce the premier showing of a reel of interesting cloud formations taken last summer in Florida; bring out and dust off the old ukulele; finally, just close the liquid refreshment department.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON BRIDGE at the Woman's Club, with four tables of the Howell System in play and an average score of 18, had honors going to the following: First—Mrs. Sidney Blackman and Mrs. James R. Valone 22½; Second—Mrs. Gaston Hamilton and Mrs. Donald Conaway 21½; Third—Mrs. Winston Teague and Mrs. Shari Glass 19; Fourth—Mrs. Melvin Ahlgren and Miss Mildred Blair 17½.

MINIATURES: Gold Star Mothers of the Warren County chapter will have their meeting on Tuesday, December 5th, at the home of Mrs. Gerda Carlson, 5 Hinkle street. Each member is asked to bring Christmas cookies and a $1 gift for exchange—Note change of meeting from Monday to Tuesday.

Warren General Hospital Alumni Association is having its Christmas tureen dinner on Monday evening at 6 in the Meadowbrook Dairy Company's social rooms on Lookout street. Besides tureen bring $1 for a worthy cause. Miss Margaret Horan, chairman, and Mrs. Frieda Schriber, Mrs. Carlton Kurz, Mrs. Paul Arnold, Mrs. Blanche Schimmelfang on committee.

The Warren County Division of Licensed Practical Nurses is having a Christmas party and exchange of $1 gifts on Monday evening at 7:30 in the Trinity Memorial Parish House. There will also be a gift for their adopted patient from WSH and a Sunshine basket for a needy person.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the woman who always compared her children. I have a problem that is worse. My mother keeps comparing me to herself.

When I brought home my last report card my mother said, "So you got a D in arithmetic! I never got a D in my life." Well, maybe she didn't, but they probably worked with Roman numerals when she was in school.

Last week I had to have a pair of boots. They cost $16. My mother gave me a 30-minute lecture on how it was when she was my age. She said her mother fed a family of five for a week on less than $16. Talk like this can make a kid feel real crummy. It's not my fault times have changed. Please straighten the older generation out, will you, Ann?—OUT OF TOUCH

DEAR OUT: O.K. Stuff some cotton in your ears, kids, this message is for your parents:

DEAR FELLOW ANTIQUES: The one phrase that kids simply don't want to hear is, "When I was your age." In the first place they don't believe you ever were. In the second place they couldn't care less about how it was. Comparisons are not only boring, they are meaningless.

It's a different world today than when you and I were growing up. While our kids have it easier in some ways, they have it tougher in others. One thing is for certain, I'm glad I'm not in high school today. I don't think I could make it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The gentleman I have been going with for several years says a woman do not need a legal ceremony in order to be man and wife in the eyes of God. He claims many people who go together treat one another better and are more faithful than a great many married folks. According to him the ceremony is a mockery and he doesn't want any part of it. Please express yourself.—SILVER THREADS AMONG THE GOLD

DEAR GOLDIE: It is true that some people who go together treat one another better and are more faithful than a great many folks who are married, but this does not mean that marriage is a mockery.

In our culture marriage is a part of the social structure. It also has built-in legal safeguards which can prove mighty helpful, particularly when there are children. No home should be without it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MR. AND MRS. LINK WARREN LEE

Nuptial Vows Are Exchanged In St. Paul's Lutheran

One hundred two guests gathered in St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the wedding of Catherine Louise Swanson and Link Warren Lee, on Saturday, November 25, at 2:30 p. m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Swanson of 204 Hill street, Warren, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lee, Erie.

The Rev. Robert E. Olson, uncle of the bride, read the double ring wedding rites and organ music was provided by Mrs. Russell Thelin; vocal soloist was Russell Thelin. Altar vases of white miniature pompons and floor vases of pompons and gladioli ornamented the chancel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a slipper length white peau de sole A-line gown with a jeweled neckline and yoke and bracelet-length bell sleeves of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her chapel length train was also made of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her headdress was a four-tier fingertip veil of imported illusion attached to a satin covered ring banded with opalescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations centered with a white rose corsage.

Women's Club Card Party Wednesday, December 6th

The Woman's Club has reported that all arrangements are in readiness for the public card party at the clubhouse on Wednesday, December 6, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

A few last-minute tickets are still available for $1 each and may be obtained by contacting any one of the following: Mrs. James Valone, Mrs. H. A. Johnson, Mrs. John Famaritis, Mrs. J. A. Bevevino, Mrs. Arthur DeLuca, Miss Felicia Lucia, Mrs. E. Gail Hamilton, Mrs. J. W. A. Luce, Mrs. C. H. Frantz, Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Harold Reinhard, or, the Woman's Club office. With the proceeds from this card party the Woman's Club will purchase new curtains and refurbish the stage.

An outstanding feature of the evening will be the drawing of the prizes which include an upholstered chair, a silver chafing dish, a gold wrist watch, and a milk box. This event will occur at nine o'clock.

Duplicate bridge players will take possession of the front parlors and those who wish to play bridge or any other game will find tables in the auditorium and should provide their own cards.

Buffet refreshments of salad and tea sandwiches, coffee or tea will be available after 9:30.

Grange Notes

Chandlers Valley Grange will meet this evening at the Grange Hall for a tureen supper at 7 p. m., followed by the regular meeting. At the last meeting, members and families enjoyed a Thanksgiving supper. Members were reminded to gather their old eyeglasses for New Eyes For The Needy program. During the grange's literary program, members played a game "Feed The Baby" which was won by Bessie Gardner and Larry Durnell. A quiz on "Thanksgiving Dinner" was won by Mary Proper and Don Gardner. The program concluded with a candlelighting service "An American Citizen's Thanksgiving."

Jamestown was maid of honor dressed in a gold peau de sole A-line dress trimmed with gold sequins. Her tulle veil was attached to a Dior bow of matching peau de sole. She carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow rose buds and white carnations. Sara Meacham, Warren, and Linda Potter, Jamestown, bridesmaids, were dressed in avocado green peau de sole gowns styled identically to the maid of honor. They carried identical bouquets. Flower girl, Mistress Mattea Swanson of Barnes, cousin of the bride, was gowned in a dress identical to the bride. Her bouffant veil was also identical to that of the bride. The mother of the bride fashioned the dresses and veils of both the bride and flower girl.

Best man for the ceremony was Christopher Roblee, Jamestown. Ushers were Mark Ristau, Warren, cousin of the bride, and Dean Backstrom, also of Warren.

The mother of the bride chose a royal blue crepe dress and matching accessories. The foster mother of the groom wore a navy knit with white accessories. Both mothers wore yellow rose corsages. Mrs. Frank L. Hildebran, grandmother of the bride, was remembered with a white mum corsage.

The wedding reception was held in the Alice Wetmore Room of the YWCA with one hundred guests attending. The tea table was decorated with a four-tier cake and silver candlesticks and white candles.

The bridal table also had silver candlesticks and was centered with the bridal bouquets. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ristau. Aides included Mrs. Robert E. Olson, Carol Patchen, Peggy Howell, Margaret Donaldson, Rosemary Potter.

For traveling to Los Angeles, California, the bride chose a deep rose dress with a white coat and black accessories. After December 5, the couple will reside in Sun Valley Apartments, 1400 Contra Costa Blvd., Pleasant Hill, California.

Mrs. Lee is a graduate of Warren Area High School and Jamestown Business College and the groom is a graduate of Jamestown High School and a member of Orcas Underwater Group, CenCal Diving Council affiliated with the San Francisco Bay area.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Margaret Donaldson, Mrs. H. A. Backstrom, Mrs. Edith Haglund, Mrs. Ray Brownell, Mrs. Howard Anderson, Mrs. Hal Potter, Mrs. Robert Olson, and Mrs. Harold Ristau. The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bride, given by the bride's parents.

Out of town guests were from Kenmore, Jamestown, N. Y., Pittsburgh, Clarion, Hadley, Erie, Ludlow and Barnes, Pa.

Blue Jay Corps To Be Guests Of Altar Society

The Holy Redeemer Altar Society will host about twenty men from the Camp Blue Jay Corps at their tureen dinner this Wednesday, December 6, at 6:30 p. m. The dinner will be held as usual in the church social hall.

Each member of the society is asked to bring a generous tureen; meat will be provided by the committee. Mrs. Ted Grisez, Mrs. William Nader and Mrs. John Shaffer are the committee in charge.

Instead of the usual exchange of Christmas gifts, a monetary contribution is to be given for Christmas gifts for incapacitated members of the society.

Mrs. John Shaffer, program chairman, has arranged the entertainment for the evening.

Philomel Club Continues Programs on 'Tonal Moods'

Continuing a series of Philomel Club programs based on "Tonal Moods", the theme of the year, Mrs. Marvin Billow, chairman of the Wednesday afternoon meeting, took as her topic "Joy and Sorrow" and spoke of the influence of music upon our feelings.

Sound, one of the qualities of music, has a strong physiological effect upon us.

Rhythm is perhaps the most important effect - producing characteristic of music. It is the basic of much of the appeal of marches, sea chanteys and dances.

Tempo helps to shape our responses, since fast music excites us and slow music creates a feeling of restfulness.

For the first number of the musical program, Mrs. Joseph DeFrees sang "Lilacs" in German and "O Thou Billowy Harvest Fields" by Rachmaninoff. Mrs. James Potter was the piano accompanist.

Mrs. Billow then read a poem on the subject of joy and sorrow from "The Prophet" by Gibran.

Mrs. Frederick Olson, accompanied by Mrs. DeFrees, played a composition for violin "Adagio Pathetique" by Godard.

To conclude the program, Mrs. John Wendell and Mrs. Jacob Levinson played Rachmaninoff's "Fantasy, Suite No. 1, Opus 5" for two pianos. This composition includes "Barcarole", which is based on a poem by Lermontov; "A Night for Love", illustrated by Lord Byron; "Tears", described by Tyntcher; and a "Russian Easter" based on a theme by Khomyakov. Mrs. Billow introduced each section by reading the corresponding poem.

At a brief business meeting, the membership committee reported one new member, Mrs. John Butes.

For the brief social hour following the program, Mrs. Paul Jackson was chairman and her committee included Mrs. Henry Bailey, Mrs. Edward Betts, Mrs. T. K. Barrett, Mrs. L. E. Chapman, Mrs. Neil Culbertson, Mrs. J. K. Krimmel, Mrs. Charles McNeal, Miss Dorothy Newell, Mrs. George Nelson, and Mrs. Carl Whipple. Mrs. Stuart Lyon and Mrs. Harold Putnam presided at the tea table, arranged with a centerpiece of fruit and nuts surrounding four large candles.

Jehovah's

Witnesses Attend

Weekend Assembly

The presiding minister of the Warren congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Mr. Theodore Smith, said today that all meetings have been cancelled this week at the Kingdom Hall. For some weeks now the congregation has been making plans to attend the Bible assembly at Celeron, N. Y., this weekend.

The Witnesses look forward to attending these assemblies which are held periodically. The theme of the assembly points out the need of living truly Christian lives. The chosen theme, "Producing the fruitage of God's spirit in our lives", also indicates the individual effort it requires to live in harmony with Bible teachings. "In these days," said Smith, "when the thinking and actions of many people become suspect due to moral breakdown we find it necessary to meet together and hear what God's Word says and to receive encouragement by studying it."

New methods of Bible teaching will be highlighted at this assembly and to show the importance of such teaching a number will give experiences of how the Bible was able to change them.

A baptism will be featured today at 2 p. m. This total immersion constitutes each participant's ordination to the ministry.

Mr. Louis R. Beda of Brooklyn, N. Y. will deliver the principle address 3 p. m. tomorrow on the subject, "Will God Intervene in Men's Affairs?" An audience of more than 800 is expected to be in attendance at Evans Skateland, Celeron, N. Y., to hear Mr. Beda. All from this area are extended a friendly welcome.

Unique Collection Continues At Pilgrim Holiness Church

The Pilgrim Holiness Church of Warren will be celebrating its 40th organized year in Warren on February 6, 1968. A week of activities are being planned for the week of February 4 through the 11.

The Pittsburgh District Superintendent and former pastor of the church, the Rev. J. L. Clark, will be the guest speaker for the anniversary services. Rev. Clark was the pastor of the church here in Warren for 1965 and 1966.

Each evening during the week, there will be a guest speaker. As many of the former pastors as can attend have been invited. Among those to speak are Rev. Dale Bair, now pastoring in Titusville. Rev. Bair was the pastor from 1963 to 1965. He will be speaking Monday evening, February 5.

The Rev. L. W. Drury, who pastored the church from 1937 to 1944, will be speaking Wednesday evening, February 7. Other guest speakers for the weekday services will be announced at a later date. On February 11 the Rev. J. D. Abbott, general superintendent of the Pilgrim Holiness churches, will be the guest speaker at the Sunday morning and Sunday evening services. Rev. Abbott pastored here from 1945 to 1958.

The recording group, the "Harmony Four" will provide the music for the services.

The "40 Years of Quarters" is to help finance the program. The object is to have each number covered with quarters; these are given by the people by "March Offerings" each Sunday. The sign, when fully covered, should net about $200. The sign was made and donated by Theron "Hap" Johnson of Youngsville. The public will be cordially invited to attend these meetings.

The Halls Of Ivy

Mark A. Honhart, 305 Fourth Avenue, Warren, Pa., a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at Niagara University, has been elected senior class senator at the university. The latter officers, chosen by a vote of the student body, serve as a liaison between the student body and the administration.

Mr. Honhart is the son of Mrs. Arthur J. Honhart, and is a graduate of Warren high school, where he was a member of the newspaper staff, the cappella choir, and the glee club. He was also a member of the track team.

Active at Niagara, young Honhart, an honor student majoring in Political Science, is a member of NU's Community Action Program and was publicity chairman for the school's highly successful International Week, a cultural activities program. He also is a member of the glee club and played varsity tennis during his sophomore year.

Upon receiving his degree in June (1968), he plans to enter government service.

Terry Hannold Gets Diploma

Terry M. Hannold of 308 1/2 Hazel st., Warren is presented his International Correspondence School diploma by Charles Decker, chief draftsman. Hannold joined Struthers Wells Corporation in 1965 as an Apprentice Draftsman and has recently been promoted to a junior draftsman upon the completion of a two-year apprenticeship program in drafting.

Home Health Aides Fill a Needed Role

By DAVE KNIGHT

The Home Health Aide training program, sponsored by Warren —Forest Counties Office of Economic Opportunity with funds acquired through a federal government grant, ended yesterday with 11 homemakers receiving certificates for successfully completing the program.

The program began Oct. 23 and was designed to train homemakers to care for convalescents, chronically ill, aged, disabled persons and children. Classes in the program were conducted at Warren General Hospital and at the Rouse Home in Youngsville.

Trainees gained practical experience in the form of on-the-job training at Barley Nursing Home, Rouse Home, Warren General Hospital and the Sheffield Children's Home.

During the six week program increased emphasis was placed on rehabilitation, the importance of maintaining families in their accustomed way of life and the vast benefits to children and older persons in remaining in their own homes.

Subjects studied by the Home Health Aide trainees included among others "Working With People," "Family Life in Relation to Food," "Accident Prevention and Safety in the Home," "The Homemaker and the Patient," "Understanding the Elderly," "Understanding Mental Health and Mental Illness," and "Care of Heart and Stroke Patients."

As a result of the excellent training program handled under the supervision of professional trained personnel, Home Health Aides will be available for service in Warren and Forest counties starting Dec. 4.

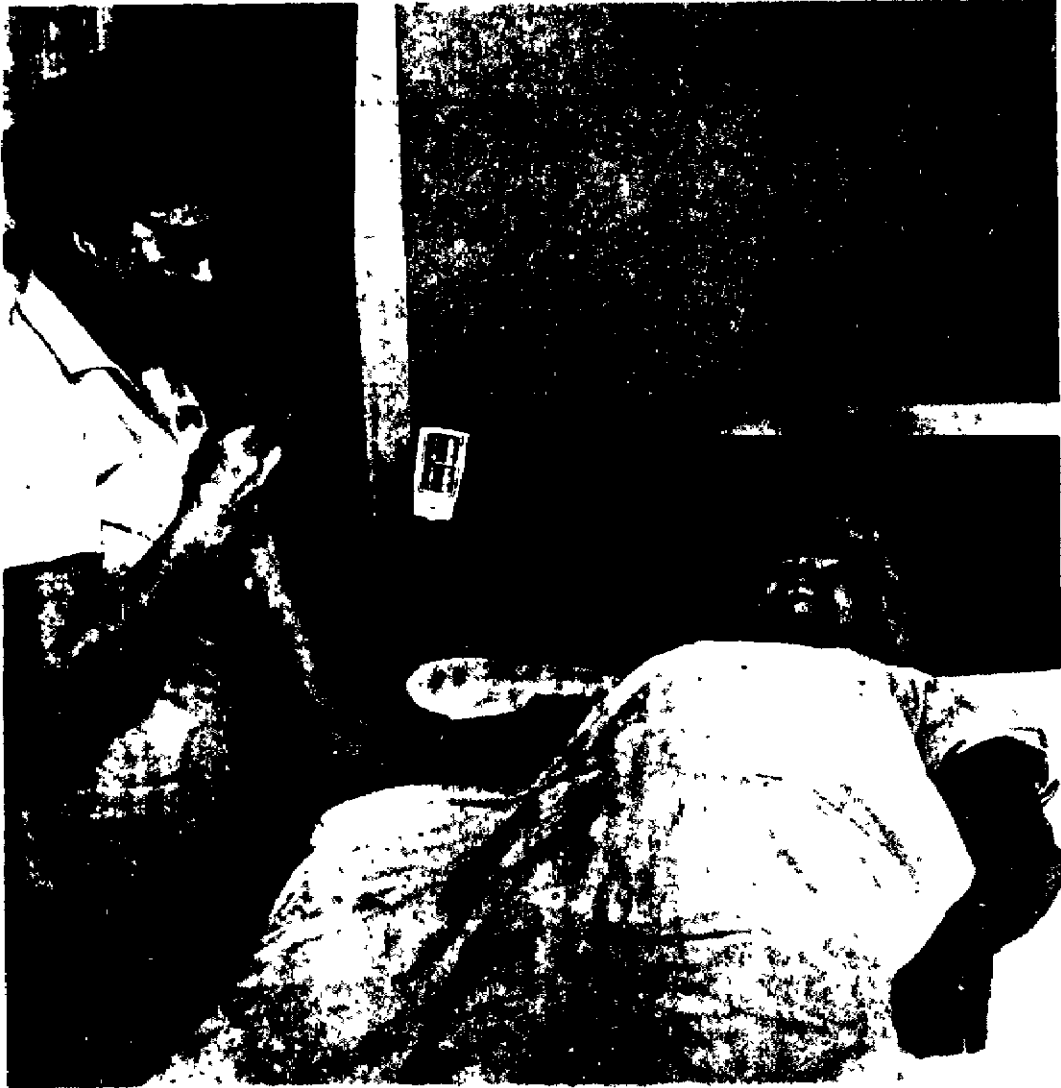

Seven of the aides graduated will be employed by various agencies serving the two counties such as Family Service, Child Welfare, Warren General Hospital, Rouse Home, The American Red Cross, and the Cancer Society. The remaining four graduates will be available for employment by private individuals in need of home health services.

The completion of the Home Health Aide training program marks the beginning of a much needed service in Warren County. It is, however only the beginning. To fill the need in the county more homemakers must be trained for this type of service. Another training program similar to the one just completed could conceivably begin almost immediately, but a project of this nature needs the support of the community as well as a sponsor.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Practical experience was also afforded the trainees in the program. Arriving at the home of a convalescent Lois Simonsen (left) and Pauline Sanden prepare for a day's work under the supervision of a visiting nurse. Practical experience under professional supervision gave the trainees a chance to perform some of the many skills they learned during the classroom training.

HEART AND STROKE PATIENT

One of the subjects studied by the group was "Caring for Heart and Stroke" patients. Here Martha Foran assumed the role of a stroke patient while Velma Wholeben practiced working on patient exercising of the stroke patient's arms for rehabilitation.

CARDIAC PATIENT

Often a cardiac patient is unable to feed himself. As part of their training in "How to Care for Stroke and Heart Patients" Home Health Aides learned the technique of feeding a patient. During this class exercise Stella Zimmer acted as a patient while Sarah Morrison served and fed the patient.

GRADUATES

CARING FOR PATIENT

Another situation covered in the six week course was the technique of caring for a patient with a catheter and closed drainage. Marian Thompson practices the newly learned technique while Helen Scuteri volunteered her services as a patient.

CHILD CARE

Doris Colter found that feeding a child that doesn't want to eat presents its own special set of problems. This was one of many situations covered in the portion of the training program devoted to Child Care. The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Nordin. Mrs. Nordin, a registered nurse, was in charge of the Home Health Aide training program.

MAKING A BED

The training program covered many situations which might arise in a home. Even the proper way to make a bed was included in the health aide's training. Health Aides Phyllis Himes and Helen Morris found a little practice was needed to perfect the technique.

WEEK'S PREVIEW

The ABC network has nothing to offer in the way of program variety for the coming week but you'll find a number of specials on the other two networks and some local station specials that merit your viewing time.

CBS has a Tennessee Ernie Ford special Sunday night, the National Drivers' Test on Tuesday night and two extras for Wednesday night, "Aladdin" and the CBS Playhouse production "Dear Friends." Channel 35 lists a 15-minute special at 10:45 p.m. Friday, "A White House Wedding."

NBC has an auspicious lineup that starts Sunday night with "America and the Americans" continues Monday night with Hallmark Hall of Fame's production of George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan," moves on to Wednesday night and the Jack Paar special, and brings two on Friday night, "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "The Forgotten Peninsula."

Ch. 6 (Johnstown) offers "Freedom's Finest Hour" on Thursday night and "Alice in Wonderland" on Friday night. A thought-provoking discussion may be the Ch. 7 (Buffalo WKBW) program Sunday afternoon titled "What Is God?"

Football continues to be the big sports attraction with Saturday and Sunday college and pro games. A heavyweight boxing match is scheduled for the Wide World of Sports show Saturday afternoon.

OUT-TALKING

If the abundant and often over-exaggerated claims of most television commercials irritate you to the point where you feel almost hostile toward the product being touted, you may be heartened to know that you have company... and from an unexpected direction.

One advertiser is taking a second look at the atmosphere of radio-TV and speculating as to whether it's good enough for its product. Spokesman for the company says that in the vast quantity of video-audio communication the all-important integrity of the product itself is disappearing. People have just stopped believing what they see and hear on TV commercials (and radio) and also often are repelled by the program on which the commercial appears.

Perhaps advertising sponsors will really tumble sometime to the fact that the average commercial's appearance on the screen is the signal for a nationwide mass exodus to the kitchen or the bathroom.

This non-viewing not only defeats the commercial's impact but also wastes the sponsor's money. After all, it is the revenue from advertising that finances programs. In the long run, sponsor and viewer alike (as well as the industry) will suffer if the quality and integity of television advertising isn't improved.

ABC TEES OFF

A veritable Golf Galaxy will brighten the ABC-TV sports schedule in 1968 as 12 major tournaments are lined up.

There will be eight PGA tournaments: Jacksonville, Fla. Open, March 31; Tournament of Champions, Las Vegas, April 20-21; Dallas Open, April 28; Houston Champions International, May 5; Colonial National Invitational, Fort Worth, May 19; Memphis Open, May 26; PGA Championship, San Antonio, July 19-21; and the American Golf Classic at Akron on Aug. 4.

Then there are three USGA tournaments: U.S. Open Championship, at Rochester, N.Y., June 14-16; Women's Open, Moselem Springs, Pa., July 13; and the Men's Amateur at Columbus, Ohio, on Aug. 31. ABC-TV also will televise the British Open from Carnoustie, Scotland on July 13.

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

JOHNNY CARSON will be taking another vacation this month. Alan King will substitute for him the week of Dec. 18-21. Phyllis Diller will stand-in one night, Dec. 22, and the comedy team of Rowan and Martin will host the Tonight Show the week of Dec. 23-26.

CHRIST IS BORN, the acclaimed dramatization of the Biblical story of Nativity, will be presented Sunday, Dec. 24, from 7 to 8 p.m. on ABC-TV. Highly recommended.

"Walt Disney" comes out of TOP VIEW voting as an all-age favorite with a handsome score:

Walt Disney, NBC, 84.3, one of TV's best.

Run for Your Life, NBC, 65.1, good.

Danny Thomas, NBC, 61.1, good.

Peyton Place, ABC, 43.6, below average.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: Anyone with theater contact knows not every performance will be perfect and occasionally one will bomb. This is why "Danny Thomas — Drama" is at a disadvantage in this rating. Mr. Thomas should be commended for his efforts. The public wants to be entertained, not challenged to thought as drama requires. Walt Disney is the sound of enjoyment, but the best bet: Drama with Danny Thomas. — Eric S. Underwood, McClelland, Iowa.

Dear TOP VIEW: "Peyton Place" used to be a good show — something to be learned from each story before they got too violent. In recent episodes there is nothing but crime, immorality, and money. The producer has gone overboard. We don't turn it on anymore.

— Bea Oliver, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dear TOP VIEW: Born and raised in Europe, I came to the states only a few years ago. I was shocked to see TV going all day. I am still shocked. With all the work to be done in a house I wonder how a good housewife finds time to watch daytime TV. I can hardly believe "Peyton Place" had a good rating. Public opinion is not considered in deciding whether a show should stay on. — Monique Powell, Omaha, Nebr. (See rating above. — Ed.)

Dear TOP VIEW: The new Public TV program was great. Just the two "commercials" — aspirin and cigarettes — made it outstanding. Bet the cigarette people will hate that show! — Sallie M. Goodman, Memphis, Tenn.

Dear TOP VIEW: Why don't good musicians play through a whole piece instead of clowning as the Smothers Brothers do? — Fred H. Corneli, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Last year, "Family Affair" finished TOP VIEW voting as TV's best all-around program. How will it do after today's ballot in this nationwide newspaper TV survey?

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1967:

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Don't waste your time on nonentities and if you give everybody a break you'll break even and more. You go into motion at the word go. One of your important stones is the diamond—indestructible.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Don't wait for opportunity, go looking for it. Many achievements are just around that corner. Determination is fine if you control it, so is self-reliant persistence. You will never do things half-heartedly.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Though you are naturally adapted to work with the soil you may find yourself at various points in your lifetime doing entirely different things. Protect your nervous system.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Holding on to anything, good or outworn, is one of your fortes. The pearl, emerald and moonstone are among your many gems. You are not so much a leader as a partner and patriot.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—If you will not be drastic in position or enthusiasm you will get along with the fact that opposites can work together. There is always a flair to what Leo does, down to the last detail.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You think, and plan and then think it over again so that once you act it is with keen discrimination. You like some people much better than others, but you do not show this—wisely!

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Remarkable powers reside here, and your comparisons are uniquely accurate. You have an object to go by, and that object is equalizing. Inharmonious things disturb you, also unfinished details.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—You may live much of your life in the scientific world, and meet many strange people and come across like happenings, but your heart is always with music and the arts. Quell skepticism.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Keep your eyes open for the greater responsibilities that will happily be placed upon your shoulders. You will enjoy them. You are a friend, an agreeable host or hostess.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Here ambition must be controlled or it will leap out of bounds. However, the thoughtful Capricornian uses a profound thinking process and wedges into places others would not dare to penetrate.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Faithful and yet frugal, your philosophies are sometimes used much later than they should have been. Intuitively and with concentration you stride ahead. Continue with idealism and reality.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—You aren't opposed to anything until you thoroughly have studied both sides of the question. And sympathy goes into everything you do. Keep your loving nature under control.

YOU BORN TODAY: Sometimes you want immediate details—and you will go to the far ends to acquire them. The upcoming months include travel, and or relaxation, a change of pace and an outlook that is fluctuating. Unusual opportunities come to you, and normally you grasp them quickly. But make certain that you are getting a hold of the real thing. Your performance in public is impeccable, and you like neat notes and outdoor occupations. Whether holding an inconspicuous position or a more representative one you will do your job.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

USE LEISURE WISELY

Time spent doing nothing is not necessarily squandered, whether it is used listening to music, watching TV, reading, painting, or just plain daydreaming. These hours give us a chance to relax and restore our energy. But time is wasted when it is poorly organized, emotionally upsetting, or done at the expense of housework, school assignments, or other chores.

Everyone deserves some freedom to do as he pleases. Modern man has more leisure and he ought to learn to use it wisely and for creative purposes. Healthy attitudes along this line enable us to get more out of life; coexistence is possible, with labor as the physical counterpart of leisure.

Work creates tension that leisure relieves. This should be incorporated into our basic philosophy. There is disagreement, however, as to where leisure ends and laziness begins. In my opinion, all play and no work represents idleness.

This applies to young and old; both deteriorate rapidly in the rocking chair.

The adult with no spare time activities is a lost soul and is quite the opposite of the individual with a hobby. A man who knows how to work with tools, for example, has an engrossing diversion; he can spend a few years building a boat and when it is completed, begin another project.

I presume that TV is the most popular pastime at present but many persons tire of the never ending panel shows, westerns, and commercials. What next? This is no problem to those who are flexible in their likes and dislikes. Many teachers are doing their best to train the youth of today along this line. They are recommending more schooling in good books, fine music and art appreciation.

But, this does not mean that men and women of retirement age cannot enjoy photography, gardening, painting, and noncompetitive sports.

TOMORROW: Facial Neuralgia.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT

Mushrooms ought to be harvested by professionals.

Educational TV Schedule

Selected Viewing

Saturday, 8:00 p. m. — CHL CAGO FESTIVAL presents classical literature in modern dance form on "Phyllis Sabold Dance Company: Cool Canterbury." On the program, Chicago's outstanding young dance group performs a modern version of "The Canterbury Tales." The dance is composed of four episodes which are introduced with a passage from Chaucer.

Sunday, 8:30 p. m. — PUBLIC BROADCAST LABORATORY, an exciting experiment in educational television, features news and the arts in this two hour program. Host Edward P. Morgan introduces in-depth reports of events that are shaping America and the world.

Monday, 7:30 p. m. — THE LITTLE GERMAN BAND performs rollicking German music ranging from folk songs to polkas. In this program, the first of two, the band plays such tunes as "The Happy Wanderer" and "Clarinet Polka."

Tuesday, 8:00 p. m. — SMOKING AND HEALTH reviews the effects of smoking on general health with special emphasis placed upon the human circulatory system. Heart disease, one of the greatest killers of Americans, will be examined on the program.

Wednesday, 9:00 p. m. — NEWS IN PERSPECTIVE presents an analysis of the past month's headlines and interpretation of major news developments throughout the world. "New York Times" newsmen discuss these important events.

Thursday, 9:30 p. m. — PENNSYLVANIA MAGAZINE features news of the business world on "Business Outlook." Dr. Phillip A. Klein of Penn State discusses his new book, "The Quality of Consumer Installment Credit." Dr. Klein talks about credit buying as it relates to the individual and the national economy.

Friday, 9:30 p. m. — EASTERN WISDOM AND MODERN LIFE is a new series dealing with themes of Eastern philosophy and their application to life in the 20th century. The programs are illustrated by Chinese and Japanese paintings and other objects of Asian art. The premiere program will focus on the Eastern view of "Man and Nature."

PRESENT

THE 1967 NATIONAL DRIVERS TEST

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 10-11 P.M.
ON THE CBS TELEVISION NETWORK

Nearly 100 million viewers have watched the National Drivers Test the past three years—making it the most popular public service program ever carried on a single TV network.

It won the Peabody Award; the Alfred P. Sloan Radio & TV Award; and the National Safety Council Public Service Award.

In this repeat performance of one of the most popular shows, timed for the critical winter driving period, you have the opportunity to retest yourself on the many hazards of the highway, with special emphasis on the problems of driving on snow and ice.

Compare your answers with those of a studio audience of motorists, with friends' and family scores, and with correct answers provided by expert drivers.

Note the date on your calendar now; check the local time and channel number in your newspaper or weekly TV guide.

Fill in blanks with T or F (True or False), Y or N (Yes or No), A, B, C or D (multiple choice), or appropriate word. Opinion questions are not scored.

Church Army Captain Guest Tomorrow At Trinity Church

Captain William Phy of the Church Army in the U.S.A. will be the guest preacher in Trinity Memorial Church tomorrow, Advent Sunday, at 10:30 a.m.

Captain Phy is the resident manager of the Episcopal Conference Center at Chestnut Hill on Lake Chautauqua. Commissioned in the Church Army in 1958, he has served in the New York City-Brooklyn area, Philadelphia, and the National Town and Country Institute in Park-ville, Missouri.

The Church Army in the USA provides the Episcopal Church with full time lay workers in specialized fields where lay leadership can be most effectively used. Captain Phy studied at the Newark College of Engineering and the Newark Technical School, and before being commissioned was employed as a draftsman, carpenter and electrician. He is also skilled in camping and recreational work, census and survey work, and the use of visual aids.

Live your Faith.

BROKEN VOWS

A Vow Is A Serious Thing

Our promise and your performance reveal the quality of your soul

A promise will make a friend but performance will keep him. Are you keeping your marriage vows, your vows to your church or synagog? When you make vows to God, do you keep them or do you go AWOL on Him? "When thou shalt vow a vow unto the Lord thy God, thou shalt not slack to pay it, for the Lord thy God will surely require it of thee." Faithful performance of good vows strengthens character, honors God and makes a better citizen.

Always Thankful

"In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." 1 Thess. 5:18.

At this season of the year when we think of our many blessings, let us not be mindful to give thanks to God for all He has done for us. We should thank Him for creating us to be His companions. We should thank Him continually for allowing Christ to come from heaven to redeem us. How dreary our existence would be if there were no hope beyond this mortal life. Christ came that we might have immortality, and how thankful we should be for this gift.

The Bible is a book of thanksgiving from beginning to end. Many preachers and theologians today could brighten their sermons by introducing a note of gratitude and praise.

Man was made to be happy. The Creator did not intend that we should be gloomy and discouraged. These discordant notes have been brought in by the enemy. God created this earth to be filled with thanksgiving and voices of praise. Why is only one day of the year called Thanksgiving? We should be thankful every day for God's goodness to us. Nothing that is for our good is withheld from us.

The apostle Paul gives the secret of a happy, joyful life when he says, "Rejoice always pray constantly, give thanks in all circumstances" (1 Thess. 5:16-18, R.S.V.).

There is a difference between giving thanks FOR something and giving thanks IN something. At times it is difficult for us to give thanks for some misfortune, but we can always give thanks in such an experience.

Mrs. Perkins suffered with rheumatoid arthritis. She spent years in a wheel chair, yet it was to her that the pastor always sent those who were discouraged or unhappy with their lot in life. Her cheerfulness and thankful spirit were contagious.

State Forest Service Moves Offices to East Side Site

Friday was moving day for Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters District 14 offices. The move is from the old Post Office Building next to Warren Times-Mirror and Observer building, to an office building on Hammond

Road, originally occupied by the Superior Oil Works. The new quarters are leased from Solar Electric Division, El Tronics Inc. District 14 headquarters have been in the former offices for the past 34 years. District Forester Robert Ache says the new offices will permit the department to bring together under one roof the executive offices, as well as storage area for fire control equipment and repairs. The latter have been for some years in a building on the East Side.

Ache compliments Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, Masterson Transfer Company and his own staff for their coordination, which made it possible to move in two days. It will require several days to get everything settled and new routines established.

District 14 staff under Ache includes Theodore S. Perdos, service forester based in Crawford County; Robert Popielski, service forester for Erie County, who also assists in Warren County until arrival next week of Forester Charles Thompson, of Clarion, who will join the staff in the Warren headquarters; Andy Marfink, forest inspector heading fire control and his assistant, Craig Newton; Mrs. Laura Stockdill, office secretary; and Mrs. Christina Thompson, clerk typist.

District 14 according to Ache, administers and manages Pennsylvania State forest lands. It also renders assistance and counsel to private woodland owners on development and management of their wooded areas.

District 14 includes Warren, Forest, Erie, Crawford and part of Venango counties. All 1,200 acres of State Forest lands in the district are located in Forest County.

One chief responsibility of the department is forest fire prevention and control throughout the district. There are five fire towers in this area—two in Warren County, two in Forest County and one in Venango County. Airplanes are also on call for aerial surveillance in areas not visible from fire towers, or on days of low visibility.

"...AN' ANOTHER THING I'M NOT GONNA BUY YA WHEN I GET BIG...."

Another important part of their work is semi-annual aerial forest pest surveys. These are conducted by flying over every square foot of the entire district, covering one-mile strips until the entire district is surveyed, with outbreaks of insect infestation and diseases plotted on long roll maps.

Marfink, assisted by Mrs. Stockdill, keeps constant surveillance, through a radio communications network throughout the five counties in District 14, actual inspection in the forest, and contact with all fire companies.

Marfink observes that the new offices have a small stand of trees at the back of the building, which constitute a forest of sorts. He contemplates tapping several maple trees in the spring for some maple syrup.

Push on to Force Delinquent Reservists Into Active Duty Status

WASHINGTON—The Defense Department is pushing ahead with a program to force military reservists who have dropped out of units or are delinquent in drill attendance to fulfill their obligations or be summoned to active duty.

The program was initiated by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last February on the ground that nonparticipating or delinquent members of the active reserve were, in effect, "enjoying draft deferment" in a time of war without contributing to the readiness of the reserve components.

Since then, Pentagon officials said Friday in response to inquiries, the number of such unsatisfactory reservists, the great bulk in the Army Reserve, has been drastically reduced.

Of the original 61,787 nonparticipating Army reservists, officials said, 31,742 have since rejoined units under the threat of a summons to active duty, 22 have been called to active service because they did not and 7,481 are now awaiting orders to active duty unless they manage to get into a unit before the orders are issued.

The 7,481 awaiting orders will receive them by the end of February, the majority in December and January. Officials estimated that the majority probably would not enter units in time and thus will go on active duty.

These Army reservists are permitted to fulfill their obligations by joining either an Army National Guard or reserve unit or a Marine, Air Force or Navy reserve unit if they can obtain a transfer to another service.

Those summoned to active duty are called up for two years, less any time on active service they may previously have served.

The cases of another 2,883 Army reservists are still pending and it is unknown how many will eventually be marked for active duty.

Many of these men may be discharged for medical or other reasons, transferred to the standby or inactive reserve because they have spent six years in a ready or active reserve status, or retained in the ready reserve manpower pool because the units they had originally belonged to were reorganized or eliminated at the initiative of the government. The remainder of the original 61,787 nonparticipating Army reservists were disposed of in one of these ways.

PENNSYLVANIA

The state constitutional convention opened in Harrisburg with a two hour initial ceremony. Gov. Raymond Shafer addressed the group, urging the delegates to stay away from partisan politics in their deliberations.

Congressman Richard Schweiker reported he has the support of the majority of Republican county chairmen for his candidacy for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator. Schweiker, who announced his candidacy Monday, would oppose veteran Democrat Joseph Clark of Philadelphia.

THE NATION

The United States Steel Corporation announced an increase in the price of steel used in a wide range of products, including automobiles and household appliances. The announcement said the company was adding $5 a ton to the price of some of its light flat-rolled products, beginning Dec. 15. Other companies said they were studying the move. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

The United Auto Workers Union announced that it would delay a threatened strike against General Motors until after New Year's. The union set Dec. 14 as a target deadline for a national contract agreement, but it said that any strike would be put off until after the first of the year.

The Defense Department is pushing ahead with a program that was initiated last February by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. The program is designed to compel military reservists to join a reserve unit and fulfill their military obligations or be summoned to active duty. Delinquent reservists were said to be enjoying what amounted to draft deferment in a time of war without contributing to the readiness of the reserves.

THE WORLD

In the central highlands of Vietnam, North Vietnamese mortars and rockets hit an American artillery base defended by paratroopers. Two other hot spots flared briefly with action along the demilitarized zone near Con Thien and near the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

Government sources said that South Vietnamese police have arrested a Viet Cong official who was reportedly trying to make contact with the U.S. Embassy. Dozens of rumors circulated about the incident, including one that said the police sabotaged a meeting that the Central Intelligence Agency had arranged between the enemy emissary and American Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

SPORTS

Youngsville posted its second victory of the young basketball season last night by defeating Cochran, 56-49, but Tidoute failed to break into the win column as Jamestown, Pa. routed the Bulldogs, 85-58. Tom Burrell and Denny Walton led the Eagles with 20 and 18 points respectively. Ed Ziegler was high for Tidoute with 17 points. Page 5.

Eisenhower's wrestling team revenged last season's loss to Union City by whipping the Bears, 39-15, but the possible loss of 154-pounder Jim Martin for the season due to a shoulder injury marred the Knights' victory. Owen Williams, Gary Gege, Paul Cathcart, Harry Critzer and Jim Sherry recorded pins for the Knights. Page 5.

Army is a heavy favorite to defeat Navy in the annual interservice academy clash at Philadelphia today. The contest highlights a light college grid schedule. Page 5.

In major league baseball meetings at Mexico City, the National League voted to expand to 12 teams no later than 1971 and the American League awarded a conditional franchise to Seattle. Trades involving "players to be announced later" were outlawed. Page 5-6.

Dean Says Prosecute Carmichael

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Dean Joseph O'Meara of the Notre Dame Law School said Friday that Stokely Carmichael should be prosecuted for "attempting to sabotage the draft" by advising young Negroes to claim conscientious objector status.

He contended that the Black Power spokesman "is being protected by his color" from prosecution.

O'Meara, 59, made the statements in an article published in the American Bar Association Journal.

In the article O'Meara contended that Carmichael's speeches against the draft are stronger than the pamphlet published by Charles T. Schenck, a pacifist who was convicted of obstructing the draft in World War I and whose sentence was upheld in a landmark Supreme Court decision.

O'Meara noted that Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said in the Schenck opinion that an individual's freedom of speech under the first amendment depends upon the circumstances under which the statements are made.

O'Meara asserted that Carmichael's advice to young Negroes should not be protected by the first amendment because he said "Communist aggression" must be stopped "while they are still far from our own shores."

He urged that Carmichael be prosecuted under a federal statute that provides penalties of up to 20 years in prison for a person who "willfully obstructs" the recruiting or enlistment of servicemen.

Mercury Takes Dip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures skidded toward zero in many parts of the state Friday night as Pennsylvanians battled to get back to normal from the season's first heavy snow fall.

At least 10 deaths were attributed to Thursday's storm—eight in traffic accidents, including three school teachers killed in a car-truck collision at Glen Campbell, and two from heart attacks while shoveling snow.

St. Mary's in northwest Pennsylvania reported a -3 degree temperature reading, the lowest in the state. Friday Altoona recorded Friday's high—a sub-freezing 23.

Snow depths ranged from six inches in Bradford and Harrisburg down to one inch at Erie.

The Weather Bureau said cold weather would continue with temperatures down in the teens Friday night and dropping to zero in several places.

Saturday is expected to start out under sunny skies, then get cloudy with some snow in western Pennsylvania as a low pressure area moves into the state.

The snow is expected to change to rain before reaching eastern Pennsylvania.

Driving conditions improved steadily Friday with an assist from man and nature. A bright sun turned snow to slush or got rid of it completely.

In rural Bucks County, driving was still a problem Friday as police reported 47 traffic accidents caused by skidding. Four persons suffered minor injuries. All roads were reported open, but police issued hazardous driving warnings.

In many rural areas, roads were open but driving conditions were still hazardous.

Area Soldier

Hurt in Action

Sgt. Major Clarence W. Buchanan, son of Eliza Logren of 101 E. Main St., Youngsville, was wounded in Vietnam Nov. 15. He is now in a hospital in Japan, where he is expected to stay for two months. He will then be transferred to a hospital nearer to his home in Nolanville, Tex., where his wife and two children reside.

His address in Japan is 249 General Hospital, Ward 884A, APO San Francisco, Calif., 96367.

Sgt. Buchanan, a native of Youngsville, has served in the armed forces for 24 years.

SOLDIER 'LOST' FOR 18 MONTHS TO BE RELEASED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pfc. Joe A. Smith, "lost" by the Army for 18 months after basic training in 1965 will be released from the service probably next week, the Army announced Friday.

Smith, 23, of Brownsville, Calif., applied for release last month. The Army contended then he must serve out the 18 months.

Smith received a routine 30-day leave in November 1965 after training at Ft. Hood, Tex. He went home to await orders. He waited . . . and waited—18 months. Then he applied for discharge.

The draftee, figuring his time was up, donned his almost new uniform June 13 and checked in at the Oakland Army Base for his discharge.

"You've got to be kidding," an interviewing officer exclaimed when he heard Smith's story.

What Smith will get next week is a release from active duty, but he won't get a discharge until he has served his full six-year military obligation. He will be in the active reserve for two years and the inactive reserve another two. This is the usual procedure for all draftees.

"I didn't expect no trouble," Smith said after his story became public.

"I didn't hide it (his service connection) from no one."

Thant Holds Urgent Talks on Cyprus Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant held urgent conversations Friday with representatives of the United States, Greece, Turkey and Cyprus on a last-minute snag in a planned peace appeal to end the menacing crisis in the Eastern Mediterranean.

No firm information was given out on details of the difficult talks, but informed diplomats said Cyprus was causing the delay.

In Athens, White House envoy Cyrus R. Vance, who has carried the brunt of diplomatic efforts to avert conflict over Cyprus, left Friday night for the troubled island. He gave no reason for the trip.

U.S. sources here said Vance, who had considered his job done, had got as far as Frankfurt, West Germany, on his way home when he learned of the new difficulty and flew back to Athens.

The sources said Vance would see officials in Athens and Ankara, as well as in Cyprus.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg conferred with Thant for more than an hour Friday morning.

The secretary-general then called in Ambassadors Orhan Eralp of Turkey, Dimitri S. Bitsios of Greece and Zenon Rossides of Cyprus for separate talks.

All three representatives of the countries directly involved belittled the difficulty.

Rossides, who told newsmen he delivered a letter from his government to Thant, said that "nothing very important" was holding up the appeal.

BLACKOUT!

A broken power cable late last night temporarily interrupted electric service in the vicinity of Sixth ave. and Market st. A spokesman for Penelec said a single line was reported down on Market st. about 11:25 p.m. He said the break may have been caused by cold weather.

Shafer Gets Convention Off To Bi-Partisan Debut Friday

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Shafer propelled Pennsylvania's first Constitutional Convention in 94 years off to a bipartisan debut Friday by urging the delegates to "keep divisive partisan elements" out of their deliberations.

"Agree or disagree as Pennsylvanians, not as Republicans, Democrats or Independents," Shafer implored in his keynote address, minutes after he had gavelled the convention to order at high noon in the state House of Representatives chamber.

"We meet in a time that demands heroic efforts if we are to conquer the complex challenges that lie before us on the path to the 21st century," Shafer said.

He warned that history would judge the success or failure of the convention on the collective courage of the delegates to "forsake the selfish interests of today for the universal interests of tomorrow."

With 160 of the 163 delegates in their seats for the two-hour opening ceremony, the convention jumped off to at least a smooth start with the election of a bipartisan slate of officers.

Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick unanimously was elected convention president, as were Democrat Robert P. Casey and Lackawanna County former gubernatorial candidate, vice president Somerset attorney Frank A. Orban, a Republican, second vice president; and Pulitzer Prize-winning author James A. Michener, a Bucks County Democrat, secretary.

Reports circulated throughout the Capitol that southeastern Pennsylvania Republicans had toyed with a drive to elect all GOP officers, but that their party leaders squashed it before it got started.

"I had heard that rumor but it was never able to substantiate it," Broderick commented when queried.

Casey said he had heard the report at a morning briefing of Democratic delegates but added: "I certainly saw no evidence of it on the floor."

The 1967 convention, the fifth in the 191-year-history of the Commonwealth, was called in a May referendum to rewrite by far the most controversial articles of the Constitution of 1874—the judiciary, taxation and finance, local government, and reapportionment.

"You are here because Pennsylvanians want change," Shafer exclaimed in his 10-minute, 1,100 word speech.

"You are not here to maintain the status quo. The road you are taking...is fraught with danger. And to end up at the end of that road without meaningful reform would be a disaster."

He implored the delegates to refrain from the partisan bickering which, only last November, resulted in the overwhelming rejection by New York voters of the $10 million product of their convention.

Friday's activities were solely ceremonial in the traditional splendor customarily associated with what Shafer described as an historic occasion. The 335th Air National Guard band provided the marching music.

The convention must conclude its work by Feb. 29, 1968, with the recommendations to be submitted separately to the voters in April.

After further developments, including the speech in the legislature and an account in the road without meaningful reform would be a disaster."
